EMILY CARR HOUSE

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA

Come visit Emily Carr House, just five blocks from the Inner Harbour and discover how this uniquely Canadian icon came to be born in an outpost of the British Empire.

Unique treasures and familiar belongings, drawn from the vast and eclectic collection of the Maltwood Art Museum and Gallery, will introduce you to the vastness and cultural diversity within the British Empire

Emily Carr is one of Canada's greatest and most loved artists. Feeling a spiritual connection with her subjects, Emily Carr painted both the landscape and native villages of Western Canada in a unique and modern style that was rejected during its time of production.

Emily Carr, "Happiness", 1939
University of Victoria Art Collections

"There is something bigger than fact: the underlying spirit, all it stands for, the mood, the vastness, the wildness." -Emily Carr

Emily Carr House is a National and Provincial Historic Site owned by the Province of British Columbia.

Maltwood Art Museum and Gallery

University of Victoria

The University of Victoria Art Collections consist of some 27,000 art objects which support the teaching and research programs of the University.

The two founding collections were the University of Victoria Collection and the John and Katharine Maltwood Collection. A third collection, the Michael C. Williams Collection, was recently received by way of bequest and underpins the exhibits at our downtown Legacy Art Gallery and Cafe.

The Maltwood Art Museum and Gallery is located at the University Centre
Room B115
